Volunteer Florida Disaster Case Management Program Request for Proposal

BACKGROUND

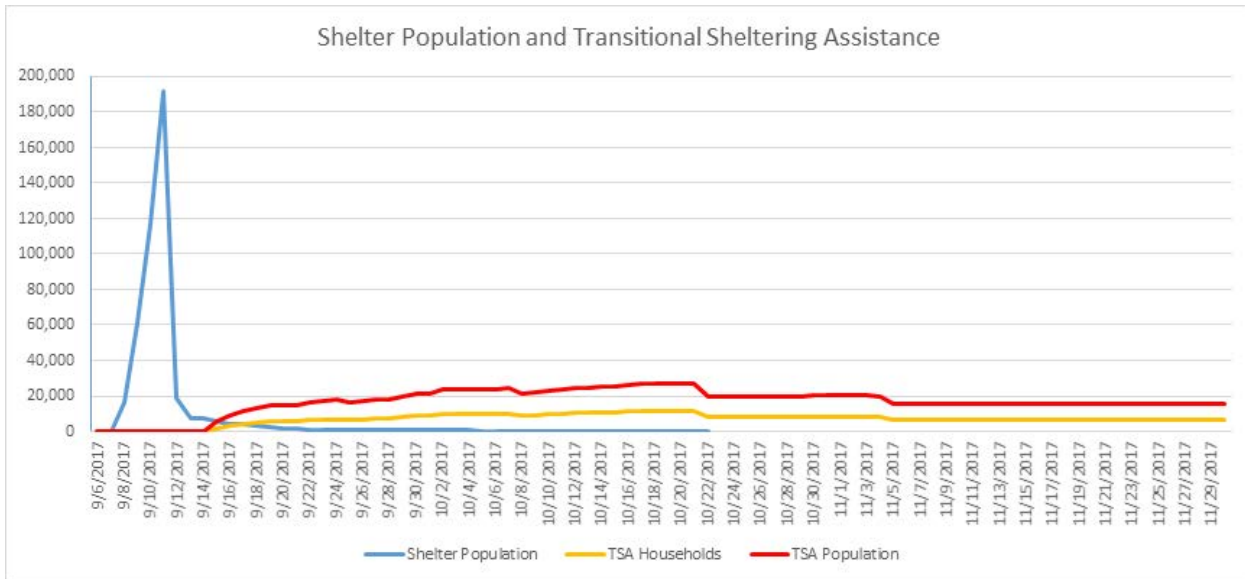

The Disaster Case Management Program (DCMP) funds have been awarded to Volunteer Florida by the Federal Emergency Management Agency to provide Disaster Case Management Program services to survivors of DR-4337-FL. The projected number of approved registrants will be determined using the FEMA Interim Disaster Case Management Program Guidance released September 2017.

For Hurricane Irma assistance in the State of Florida, closed registrations for disaster assistance was 2,638,884. In working with our partners the decision was made to utilize the more accurate data point Temporary Shelter Assistance (TSA) Data to project staffing and determine possible number of clients with long term unmet needs and may need case management assistance. As of October 29, 2017 the cumulative eligibility number for TSA was 857,594 households however the State will use the TSA number from October 17, 2017 of 820,000 rounded up.

Using the TSA number to calculate staffing resulted in the need for approximately 240 case managers plus 24 case management supervisors.

Utilizing the FEMA DCMP Guidance formula, the estimated number of households is 8405 potential clients. <http://www.volunteerflorida.org/wp-content/uploads/2018/01/FEMA-DCM-Interim-Guidance-September-2017-FINAL-10-6-17.pdf>

The last shelter closed on October 21, 2017.

Disaster Case Management Program Requirements

This document consists of excerpts from the FEMA Disaster Case Management Program Guidance and Florida's Disaster Case Management Plan that provide guidance for the applicant developing a case management program for the 2017 Hurricane Irma DR-4337-FL

PROGRAM PARAMETERS

A. Service Area: Florida's goal is to serve all eligible survivors in declared communities through the provision of disaster case management services. The focus of Disaster Case Management work will be in the forty-eight declared counties for DR-4337-FL. A formula for case management allocation shall be developed and applied upon grant award.

B. Disaster-caused Unmet Need Definition: A disaster-caused unmet need is an un-resourced item, support, or assistance that has been assessed and verified by representatives from State, Tribal, local, and Federal governments and/or voluntary and faith-based organizations as necessary for the survivor to recover from the disaster. Disaster survivor resources may include insurance payments, Federal disaster assistance (i.e. FEMA Individual and Households Program (IHP) grants, and Small Business Administration (SBA) Disaster Loans), State assistance, voluntary agency/faith based assistance and personal resources. Unmet needs may also include basic immediate emergency needs such as food, clothing, shelter or first aid and long-term needs such as financial, physical, emotional or spiritual well-being.

C. Disaster Case Management Strategy: The Disaster Case Management Committee of the FLVOAD drafted a plan for the state that was formally adopted by FLVOAD in 2012. The plan provides detailed information regarding all facets of the DCM program. The basic concept of operations is to assist disaster survivors in identifying unmet and long-term needs, locating and advocating for services and resources to meet the needs and coordinating among multiple service organizations to include local long-term recovery groups.

The Florida DCM Program will operate in three phases: Mobilization and Outreach, DCM Service Provision and Demobilization.

C.1 Mobilization and Outreach: Upon award, resources will be mobilized to support DCM services, such as staff, supplies, and facilities. Staff will undergo training in the nationally recognized United Methodist Committee on Relief (UMCOR) disaster case management curriculum, Coordinated Assistance Network or alternative data system, DCM Supervisory training and the consistent use of DCM standards.

Two types of outreach will be conducted. FLVOAD partners and other voluntary organizations will conduct outreach to recruit voluntary staff to augment paid staff and establish additional resources. Community outreach will be conducted to inform residents of service availability information. A multi-disciplinary approach will be necessary for successful community outreach. While not all the following methods may be utilized, the combination most feasible and effective will be implemented: community canvassing; local nongovernmental, community organizations (NGO) with which vulnerable populations have existing relationships; social and traditional media; public information messaging; Community Emergency Response Teams; public meetings and LTRG meetings; flyers and signs; mass call out; reverse dialogic; and mass mailings. A detailed outreach and message development section is included in the Florida DCM Plan.

C.2 Service Provision: Once the DCM program is operational, DCM will begin the service provision phase. All clients will receive an intake to verify disaster-caused needs, resources received to date and the priority of client needs based on the scale identified in the Florida DCM Plan:

Priority 1—Urgent basic disaster-related needs for shelter, food, safety AND compromised health and well-being (1 or more pre-identified priority triggers as defined in the Intake Form Risk Assessment).

Priority 2—Urgent basic needs for shelter, food, safety OR compromised health and well-being (1 or more pre-identified priority triggers as defined in the risk assessment).

Priority 3—No urgent basic needs; no health and well-being triggers; meets criteria for program's specialized services for Disaster Case Management.

Priority 4—No urgent basic needs; no health and well-being triggers

These priority levels determine which cases to assign first, but each case will be evaluated for complexity and urgency of basic needs. If clients are found to be ineligible for DCM, advocacy and referral services may still be provided when:

- The applicant does not meet service criteria
- The applicant cannot be served within a time period acceptable to them
- The applicant's needs fall outside an agency's capacity to serve the client

Client data will be entered into the Coordinated Assistance Network (CAN), a shared confidential system, or an alternative tool from which data can be exported into CAN. This coordinated approach reduces applicant fatigue and provides an accurate history of client recovery and resources provided, allowing stakeholders to collaborate more effectively.

DCM provider organizations will utilize standardized forms for intake, release of information, tracking and reporting that meet FEMA guidelines. The DCM and client will develop a case plan with time-limited tasks for each to complete.

The complexity of the plan and client needs will determine the number of meetings required to meet plan goals. Recovery goals determine the timing of case closures. Progress will be monitored.

Once a case has been opened, services will be provided according to the following standard tiers:

Tier 1 - Stable, housed, emergency needs met, resources not available; case will be closed.

Tier 2 - Guidance, referrals and/or few critical resources needed to achieve recovery goals; monthly contact.

Tier 3 - Limited ability to address disaster-caused needs due to a vulnerability such as the elderly, individuals with disabilities, children, those with literacy challenges, those with limited English proficiency; biweekly contact.

Tier 4 - Severe mental trauma, physical limitation, or a member of the functional needs community who requires intensive support to achieve their recovery plan; weekly contact.

Specific activities that Disaster Recovery Case Management personnel will be doing:

- Provide intake on clients seeking disaster assistance, interview clients to make determination that needs are disaster related. For those with non-disaster related needs, community service referrals will be made. Those with disaster-related needs; case advocates will provide an overview of process and collect necessary information from the client related to their disaster needs which includes Federal and State assistance received. A duplication of benefits check will be completed on each client. Case managers will prioritize the cases and work from highest to lowest priority, based on client availability.
- All clients with disaster-related needs will be assigned a case manager to work with. This manager will help develop individualized recovery plans. These recovery plans will be the foundation of the work done to help disaster victims recover. These plans will be monitor throughout the duration of the client's recovery and altered as needed based on assistance provided.
- A review will be conducted to determine if the recovery plan has been successfully achieved and the individual's needs have been met. The case will then be closed pending no further assistance is needed.
- Provide assistance to review, analyze, make recommendations, and/or negotiate with contractors regarding cost estimates for construction repairs/rebuilds resulting from flood damage. Coordinate activities of volunteers/workers completing repair and reconstruction projects.

- Collect and input client data into CAN (Coordinated Assistance Network) or similar shared data collection system that can be exported into CAN. Through CAN case managers will match community resources and client needs to make referrals to access community resources. This collaboration creates a single point of case management data that provides Long Term Recovery Committees with the information needed to effectively delegate resources and best serve those in need.
- Provide facilitation at community meetings to discuss disaster recovery case management services, seek and collect resources at the local and state level to maintain CAN database of resources available to help individuals with recovery, collaborate with other community agencies to share and gather information, and attend training to receive most up-to-date information on disaster case management skills and tools.
- Provide reports to Volunteer Florida on case management services being provided. Collect and report monthly on the number of people being served, number of resource referrals made, number of recovery plan completed, and the status of those still in recovery.

Case closure should occur when client goals have been met to bring about stability and sustainable recovery. While it is the intent and purpose of DCM services to close cases only when needs have been successfully met, there are other reasons identified in the Florida DCM Plan for case closure:

- Timeline needs of client
- Transition of case to social service providers
- By client request
- Non-compliance by client

When a case is closed, written notice will be provided to the client detailing the rationale for termination and closure. Instructions for client appeal will be included. All appeals will be reviewed by the Program Manager. Case closures will be monitored and included in required reports to FEMA.

C.3 Demobilization: Demobilization planning shall commence at the onset of the DCM program. Typically, demobilization begins as cases are closed and needs are met and requests for assistance taper off or cease. The plan will include a “rightsizing” model and will review each location separately during the process. Volunteer Florida will coordinate with local service providers and volunteers to maintain awareness of community needs and closure trends that would indicate a demobilization threshold has been met. Should services no longer be warranted prior to the term of the grant, Volunteer Florida may make the decision to discontinue DCM program operations. All demobilization determinations will be made in partnership with FEMA, LTRGs, local governments and the DCM Provider.

D. Training: The DCMP training plan will be the responsibility of the Volunteer Florida (Training Special). FLVOAD and its partner agencies will support training efforts as possible. Core elements of DCM program training will include DCMP training, UMCOR DCM training; CAN training, and Export Wizard training, if needed. Training on new best practices, new resources or programs, eligibility changes in existing programs and how to best utilize the tools and technology available, will be ongoing. Additional training will be conducted as needed for program success.

E. Staffing: Funds awarded to Service Provider Organization may only be used for staffing the Disaster Case Management Program. A DCMP Staffing Plan must be submitted with the RFP and a final copy with any required amendments submitted with the signed contract. DCMP staff may be supplemented through volunteers or additional staff hired at the sole expense of the Service Provider Organization. Benefits may not exceed 23% of salary.

F. Monitoring and Quality Control: Program monitoring will be the responsibility of Volunteer Florida with assistance from the Program Manager and local DCM staff. Monitoring will include reviews of reports, financial statements and records, case summary and closure reports and site visits. Volunteer Florida will develop policies and procedures and reporting templates to ensure consistent program monitoring and evaluation throughout the grant period. Sub-contract agreements will include requirements for adherence to these monitoring guidelines.

Compliance reviews will focus on the following areas:

- Client intake, recovery plan, referrals, case notes and closure
- Resource coordination between DCM staff and resource providers
- Coordination among DCM, agencies providing resources, government, nongovernment and private sector stakeholders
- Compliance with privacy laws

Volunteer Florida staff will coordinate closely with the FEMA DCM program liaison throughout the program, and will arrange for up to three site visits for FEMA, as requested, throughout the twelve (12) – eighteen (18) month grant term. Volunteer Florida will arrange for any additional requested meetings. Program evaluations will be included in regular reports to FEMA. These reviews will provide the means to identify needed course corrections to ensure program success and to track client progress for reporting outcomes to FEMA.

G. Reporting: Monthly Invoice Worksheets and Monthly Program Service Reports shall be submitted to Volunteer Florida no later than the first day of each month utilizing the reporting formats provided.

H. Technology Platform Description:

The identified tool for tracking cases is the Coordinated Assistance Network (CAN). Service provider organizations may utilize other existing data platforms from which data can be exported to CAN for data sharing purposes. All DCM Service Provider Organizations shall receive approval, access and training in CAN. CAN has been activated for this event and the state will be working with CAN to ensure that the portal meets the DCMP reporting requirements.

Following training, Disaster Case Managers and Administrative / Data Entry specialists will be responsible for entering all client data into CAN and keeping the system up to date. Approved users will provide summary information within the dictates of the data sharing agreements on case and program progress for use in DCMP grant reporting requirements and demobilization planning.

DCMP staff may utilize the Google Drive platform, Dropbox, or other similar tools for transmitting reports. No personally protected information will be uploaded into these platforms. Policy regarding the use of these tools will be included in training curriculums.

I. Functional Needs: Based on the percentage of people with disabilities and the population numbers for survivors over the age of 60, it is anticipated that some DCM clients will have functional needs, including the possibility of language barriers. DCM offices will be located in ADA compliant facilities; unique services such as translation and other needs will be secured in collaboration with local Coalition for Independent Living Organizations and Centers for Independent Living.
